Dear Business or Non-Profit Community Leader:

As the parent of a former gifted student in Lexington-Richland County School District Five, I know the meaningful ways gifted students contribute to society. I also know the challenges these students and their parents face as they navigate school and try to maximize their gifts in preparation for careers of the future. That is why I am excited about PAGE Five's bold new initiatives, including informative seminars, engaging student challenges and competitions, after-school and summer academic enrichment scholarships, teacher grants for innovative classroom activities, parent roundtable discussions on pertinent issues they face in supporting their children, and enrichment fairs offering resources for parents and students.

PAGE Five is a volunteer, non-profit support network for parents, educators, policy-makers, and residents of School District Five of Lexington and Richland counties. Its mission is to promote education for gifted and talented students in School District Five, to disseminate information on and build awareness about gifted education, to provide enrichment opportunities for parents and students, and to assist families with scholarships and tuition aid for gifted and talented students.

We seek sponsorships from business and non-profit organizations who recognize how their support of gifted students can make a positive impact on these students and ultimately on the larger community. Enclosed you will find a comprehensive list of sponsorship opportunities to complement your organization's commitment to supporting purposeful community programs and activities. PAGE Five is a 501(c)(3) organization, so your generous donations are tax-deductible to the extent allowable by law.

Thank you in advance for your consideration and for your commitment to gifted and talented students and the families who support them

Sincerely,

Barb Waldman
